ANNUAL GINGERBREAD VILLAGE DELIGHTS AT FOUR SEASONS

An Alpine gingerbread village with snowy roofs and frosty hills, a ski lift, and steam train will delight visitors to the Four Seasons, beginning Thursday, November 23, Thanksgiving morning. The "centerpiece," a whirling carousel and its horses, is elaborately decorated with sugar, candy, gingerbread, and chocolate. Executive Pastry Chef Jean Luc Daul and his eight pastry "elves" have been working on the 20 tasty "properties" since summer. They're for sale at $250 to $450 each for the benefit of the UNLV Cancer Research Center, and lucky "owners" may take them home on December 27. Call 632-5000.

COOKIE CARDS SPICE UP HOLIDAY GREETINGS

Cookie Cards by Good Fortune spice up holiday greetings. Send them your favorite photo, and they'll print it on edible paper with edible ink, apply it to white-chocolate-drenched graham crackers, and frame it with sprinkles. ($2.95 each) They'll also duplicate your business card! U.S.P.O. holiday stamp designs adorn other cookies. (8 for $22.50) However, if you want to create "originals," they'll send you "canvases" of white-chocolate-dipped grahams and three pens containing edible ink. ($18.50 for 4). www.goodfortunes.com

P.S. Planning ahead for Chinese New Year? They make giant decorated fortune cookies, too.
